Subject : All India One Day Seminar on "Recent Advances in Sugar Drying, Grading and Packaging Technologies" 14 February 2019, Dehradun

Dear Member,

The process of drying and cooling the centrifuged sugar has a decisive role to play as the process is increasingly developing into a conditioning phase before the sugar is graded and packed.

Sugar Grading plays an important role in defining sugar quality with respect to consistency of grain size and may fetch better price in market with even grains grades. For bulk end user of sugar, dry mixing of sugar is energy efficient compared to wet process. For dry mixing process, consistency in sugar grain size is very important. Efficient grading also ensures optimization of product output and recycle of seeds.

In times of ever increasing production costs, stringent environmental and food safety standards, optimization of sugar units with clean and efficient processes is an important factor to stay profitable. Choosing efficient processes/equipment is the key to enhance productivity, lower power consumption, emissions and producing quality product that meets exports and bulk consumers' requirements.

To discuss more on the subject and explore new technological strategies, The Sugar Technologists' Association of India (STAI) is organizing an All India One Day Seminar on "Recent Advances in Sugar Drying, Grading and Packaging Technologies" as per following details :
